CHILDREN'S Rehabilitation Service

Helping children with special health care needs grow to their maximum potential

Enabling children with special needs to participate in school

CRS staff members work closely with local school systems to enable children with special health care needs to participate fully in school. Through services such as counseling, specialized evaluations, and assistive technology for children and families, as well as disability training for teachers and other school staff, CRS offers the support vital to classroom success.

Any child or adolescent under 21 years of age, regardless of income, who is a resident of Alabama and has a special health care need may receive CRS services. Individuals with hemophilia are eligible for services beyond 21.

Providing family-centered, community based services

CRS is a statewide network of health care professionals dedicated to delivering quality medical, rehabilitation, care coordination, and support services for children and youth with special health care needs and their families. Every county in Alabama is served through 14 community-based offices.

Physicians, nurses, social workers, physical therapists, audiologists, speech-language pathologists, occupational therapists, registered dietitians, and local parent consultants collaborate to meet the needs of the families we serve.

CRS is committed to providing quality services within a system of care that is family-centered, community-based and coordinated with health, education, and other resources.
